FROM BISHOP DOLAN

My dear Friends,

“Ad majorem Dei gloriam” used to be a Jesuit motto: “All for the greater glory of God.” But today the Jesuits, clever and well-trained men that they are, do all they can to tear down God’s glory, from the intruder on Peter’s throne down to teachers and missionaries and administrators of this once-Catholic order.

I do not refer to the high church trappings which the new man Bergoglio has removed from his Novus Ordo. This Jesuit is a plain, standard New Order “president of the assembly.” This is just as well, as it might make clear that he does not offer a valid Mass, nor is he pope at all. He has no right to the ceremonies of Catholicism.

It is the perversion of Catholic dogma, fully documented in this Jesuit’s writings (including a notorious book co-authored with a Rabbi), the trashing of one basic Catholic doctrine after another, which boldly steals from Almighty God the glory which is His due. (See Bishop Sanborn’s most recent Most Holy Trinity Seminary Newsletter for full documentation.)

This reminds me of the early ecumenist, the Egyptian priest Arius, who wanted to reduce Our Lord to a creature, one among many. Today they attempt to do this to His Church, making it imperfect, not complete, one among many. Catholics, by the heresy of ecumenism, are taught that the Immaculate Bride of Christ is just one more religion striving to attain unity with all the other ones. Sadly, even “traditional Catholics” have, in practical terms, embraced these and other heresies as the price of admission to the One World Church with all of its convenience and respectability. There, you may be sure, nothing will be done to the greater glory of God.

How important it is then, that we should do all we can to promote God’s glory in teaching and preaching, writing and speaking, as well as in the sublime liturgical worship which true Catholics alone rightly possess. This enables us to glorify the good God perfectly. Thank God with us, and join us in this great work.

Eastertide and Mary’s month have now passed, and did not find us slothful in getting glory for God. Internet radio programs (blogtalkradio.com/restorationradio) have joined our apostolate of the printed word. Our enhanced website (SGGResources.org) is also there to serve you. All of this is sanctified and rendered efficacious by the sacred words of worship whispered and prayed and sung daily at God’s altar, as well as in the glorious processions and magnificent Masses which characterize this time of the year.

The Vigil of Pentecost celebrated at St. Gertrude the Great Church retains the integrity all the pre-1955 ceremonies of the Roman Missal. On this day each year the sacrament of confirmation is administered by Bishop Dolan.

You are in our prayers. Work and pray with us for God’s greater glory. Omnia ad majorem Dei gloriam!
Yours in the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary,

– Most Rev. Daniel L. Dolan

(Above) The Lesser Litanies, which are observed each year on the Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday before the Feast of the Ascension, are marked by an outdoor procession each day. In attendance were our schoolchildren, homeschoolers, and devout faithful accompanying the clergy and petitioning God for His many blessings. (Below) During these same days the Feast of the Apparition of St. Michael the Archangel afforded us the opportunity to dedicate the statue to "He who is like God" that caps one corner of our now nearly completed cloister.

(Above) Following the chanting of the Prophecies and the Blessing of the Font, a catechumen received the regenerating waters of baptism. (Below) One of twenty confirmands, attended by his sponsor, receives the anointing with holy chrism bringing with it the gifts of the Holy Ghost.

The great Feast of Corpus Christi was observed with a solemn high Mass and Procession of the Blessed Sacrament. (Above) Father McKenna is assisted by Fathers McGuire and Lehtoranta as the Eucharist Procession makes its way up the main aisle of St. Gertrude the Great Church amidst the perfumed smoke of burning incense and a carpet of red rose petals from our own gardens lovingly cast by innocent children.
